Abolish the Pen.

If our law makers would sell the state farm and abolish the penitentiary, and then let each county manage their own convicts by chain gangs on our roads, it would not be many years before every county in the state would have good roads, and every farmer would have a good road to market.

We could then let our commutation tax go to our schools. The old hosiery mill would be abolished and many of the disagreeable things about the penitentiary would be removed.

Because men commit crimes and are put in prison to be punished is no reason why they should be confined where disease and death come to them. Put them out in the open air, give them wholesome food, good clothing, and make them work for the county against which they have sinned.

The state has no right to work convict labor on the farm in competition with honest labor.

We ought to do the right thing by the state and by the prisoner.

Even a snail does his best.

It is so much better to forgive than to say you do.

Thirteen can in no wise affect the fortunes of the New Year. The tail cannot wag the dog.

"Citizen Josh" Ashley introduced a bill in the legislature to legalize the sale of whisky. What is happening in this state. What next?

Cats and dogs are friendly and smile with their tails. Do not think of the people you know who need tails.

"Did $5,000 worth of worrying in an hour", reads a headline. Didn't read the article, but bet he was a newspaper man.—Columbia Record. And we bet he didn't get paid off in cash, either.

Representative Williams of this county voted for the bill restricting the rights of the press, and Representative McCravy voted against it. "Josh" Ashley of Anderson also voted for the bill, but it was killed, 55 to 53.

Our classified column was inaugurated for the benefit of our subscribers and we want them to take advantage of it. If you have fresh butter, eggs, sausage, etc., to sell you can probably find plenty of buyers thru this column, and can use the parcel post for delivery. Try it.

The Pickens Railroad

We want to lift our hat and make our bow to the Pickens Railroad Company. The people of Pickens county and the traveling public generally will never know how much they owe to this road with its kind and obliging officers and crew.

We want the privilege some day of voting for each one of the presidents of the road. Say, Hon. John Gary Evans, first president, for United States senator; Ex-president Julius E. Boggs for congress, and the present president, J. P. Carey, for chief justice of the supreme court. We have never had, nor will we ever have, a better one than he would make.

Too much praise cannot be given to the old reliable trio—Taylor, Jeans and Partridge. Never have men been more faithful and efficient. Messrs. Dwight Attaway and Roy Nealey have not been with the road as long as the others, but they are making good. For this trio we would like to vote a liberal income to each after awhile when they may desire to retire from active service. The United States pensions her retired soldiers, for service rendered. These faithful men ought to be rewarded from some source, for they have served the public well.

A cold day; the rain pouring down in torrents; the road muddy; some poor fellow tugging away at his load helping the old mule to pull the wagon out of a hole in the road; a buggy going by, the man drenched in the rain; another man going along on the train perfectly dry and comfortable. He owed it all to the Pickens Railroad.

The Pickens Railroad is without doubt one of the greatest material blessings that has ever come to this county. May peace and prosperity attend the company for all the years to come.

"At midnight, in his guarded tent, The Turk was dreaming of the hour When Greece, here again, should tremble at his power."

It was a dark night, and the moon Did not give out a gleam; The Shanghai rooster woke him soon Sure enough 'twas all a dream.

Noticed in a paper the other day that a man had been arrested because he had two $10,000 bills. Which with apologies to The Greenville Piedmont, shows the danger of having $10,000 bills.

The greatest and most gratifying compliment you can pay your enemy is to refuse to speak to him.

The eagle does not prey on flies—he flies on his prey.

"He who puts his hand to the plow", screamed the crossroads orator, "must not turn back."

"What is he to do when he gets to the end of the furrer?" asked the auditor in the blue jeans and overall.—Youth's Companion.

A TEST OF FOUR VARIETIES OF LONG-STAPLE COTTON.

The following article was written by Mr. Felix Williams, of Villa Rica, Ga., for the Progressive Farmer, and will be of interest to Pickens county farmers:

Quite a number of the readers of The Progressive Farmer have not forgotten that Mr. Miller said in an article published last June that I am a grower of long-staple cotton. I have before me a number of letters asking how I came out this year with the upland long-staple varieties. We have in a test this year four staple varieties, the Keenan, Webber, Columbia and Allen. We have one variety of short staple cotton, the Triumph, along with these in the same test. One acre is used for each variety, and is rotated, running two rows of each over the entire five acres. The following table shows the result of the test:

	Per Cent	Lint	Length of Lint	Price per pound	Value
Webber—First picking.....	407 lbs.	30	377	1 1/2 in.	$0.18 1/2
Final picking.....	700 lbs.
Total.....	1,107 lbs.				$63.74
Allen—First picking.....	412 lbs.	29	315	1 1/2 in.	.21
Final picking.....	610 lbs.
Total.....	1,022 lbs.				$66.15
Triumph—First picking.....	708 lbs.	26	503	1 in.	.12 1/2
Final picking.....	590 lbs.
Total.....	1,298 lbs.				$28.87

Columbia—First picking.....	627 lbs.	32 1/2	422	1 1/2 in.	.18 1/2

Have You?

HAVE you taken advantage of our offer and received one of the old "Blue Back" Spellers? If you have not, we believe you should do so at once. Besides bringing to mind many reminiscences of the happy days you spent at the "old school house," it is a good book to have in the home. Many of our old subscribers who are among our best citizens have told us that the only book they ever studied was the old "Blue Back."

We have given away a great many of these books and we want to give away some more, because everybody who studies it will be the better for it. Here are just a few paragraphs we take from it:

The rainbow is a token that the world will not be drowned again, but that the regular seasons will continue. Never equivocate or prevaricate, but tell the plain truth.

Men acquire property by industry and economy; but it is more easy to acquire property than to keep it.

Friday is just as lucky a day as any other.

How happy men would be if they would always love what is right and hate what is wrong.

And there are many, many more paragraphs and proverbs better than these; besides the ten fables, each one teaching a lesson worth learning.

Come in this week and get one of these books. We give one to each subscriber who pays a year in advance.

South Carolina News

The Charlotte Observer has recently added another feature to its already splendid news service. It will hereafter give the news of South Carolina just as it has the news of North Carolina. It will have a special correspondent at Columbia to cover all the news of the capital and the State and then in all towns of importance in South Carolina a correspondent will look after the interests of The Observer. For years The Charlotte Daily Observer has had the strongest news gathering organization between Washington and Atlanta and this new move in giving a full news service in South Carolina will make The Observer the most popular paper in the two Carolinas.

The point of interest that will appeal especially to the people is that The Observer will give all the news without color or favoritism to anyone. The Charlotte Observer has taken another long step in a greater success.
